Planning your guests' stay...

A St Jude's itinerary is flexible and can be tailored to suit your guests' interests and schedule

We have a good mix of interactive and informative activities guaranteed to make your guests learn more about Tanzania's people and culture. Selections from our top 10 activities can be made based on your guests' interests and availability.

It is ideal to save three days for a visit to St Jude's, but this can be shorter or longer as time allows.

A visit during graduation week in May is extra special

Guests visiting us in May can attend our one-of-a-kind graduation:

- Our graduation ceremony is nothing short of spectacular!
- To experience the full St Jude's graduation week, we offer visitors an inclusive five-day itinerary covering most of the top ten activities.
- The week is fun, engaging and memorable.

1

Tour a St Jude's school, or three!

Your guests can tour St Jude's three campuses. A tour of the school would allow guests to interact with the students and the staff and learn first-hand how the school impacts their lives and the local community.

2

Learn to cook Tanzanian style

Food is an integral part of culture! Your guests will learn to prepare some traditional Tanzanian recipes with the help and guidance of our high school graduates. To complete the experience, they will savour the goodness of the food they helped prepare as they dine together in a beautiful outdoor set-up.

3

Enjoy a home visit to a student's family

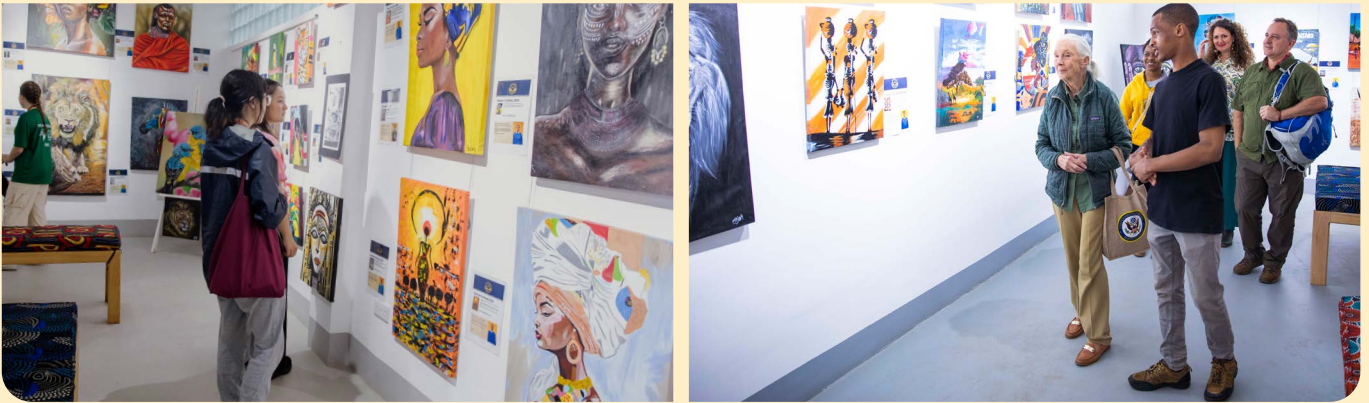

A home visit gives first-hand insight into our students' home lives, showing the profound difference St Jude's can make. Guests have the option to purchase a Home Pack (US$48) as a gift for the family. The pack includes a solar light and necessities such as mosquito nets, rice, sugar, cooking oil, toothpaste, and soap.

4

Browse St Jude's Art Gallery

St Jude's holistic education approach provides students with avenues to explore their talents—and we found we have exceptionally artistic ones! Our Art Gallery showcases some of the best works of our students, each piece reflecting a unique perspective and story. The artworks are available for sale, so your guests can go home with a piece of St Jude's with them—and for a cause, because proceeds of each sale go to the student artist and purchase more art materials.

Take a ride on our iconic blue and yellow bus

Joining our students on their journey home on our big yellow school bus is a unique experience. Students share about their day and what they have learned in class, and participate in joyful sing-alongs as they are dropped home, one by one.

6

Meet our Founding Director, Gemma Sisia

Our school's story is extraordinary. Your guests will personally meet Gemma Sisia, our Founder, and hear from her the journey of St Jude's from a school that began with three students to what it has grown to become, a real inspiration of what passion and commitment can achieve.

7

Participate in an extra-curricular activity

St Jude's education is BIG on extracurricular activities. From African drumming to traditional dances to football, volleyball, and netball—whether your guests are musically inclined or into sports, St Jude's has extra-curricular activities they will be delighted to participate in!

8

Go back to school – see a class in action

Your guest can join a class! An excellent opportunity to see our students' progress first-hand, your guests will interact with our students during art, music, and reading classes where appropriate.

9

Take part in one of our weekly assemblies

Our school assembly at the end of each school week is spectacular, and visitors are always welcome. Held at the Smith or Sisia Campus, students dance and perform musical acts, offering a unique presentation of Tanzania's rich culture.

Observe how our graduates pay it forward in a visit to a government school

In their final year of secondary school, our Form 6 graduates can opt to do a Community Service Year (CSY) volunteer placement for their first year out of school. This year-long volunteering provides graduates a way of giving back in appreciation for the free education they received at St Jude's.

As a CSY volunteer, they personify the school's vision, sharing the knowledge and values they learned at St Jude's by teaching in local government secondary schools. With a shortage of over 80,000 teachers across government schools in Tanzania, this program supports the government education system and provides an invaluable, unequalled community service in our region.

- Since 2015, 800+ of our Form 6 graduates have participated in the CSY Program.
- Some CSY volunteers teach classes of up to 130 students.
- A visit shows, by contrast, the enormous challenges government school students face in furthering their education. Get ready to be amazed and learn!

Do it all at a St Jude's Graduation!

One of the best experiences in the St Jude's calendar

Although the graduation as an event is one day, we are more than glad to have your guests arriving 5 days before the graduation day in May so they can experience the graduation week which is jam-packed with activities! Not only do they get to see the school in action, but also learn more about the school through interaction with our students. They go on a home visit, have a Q&A session with Gemma, cooking lessons and much more.

The week is not only fun and engaging but also memorable, and your guests will love it!

Your guests are safe with us...

Good governance underpins all we do

The School of St Jude is a registered international non-governmental organisation (iNGO) under the Non-Governmental Organisations Act, No. 24 of 2002 of Tanzania. It is a charitable organisation with accounts audited annually by Ernst and Young, an internationally recognised firm.

The school is governed by a board of directors who use their expertise from various backgrounds to ensure its mission and policies are followed. They support the management team and ensure strategic goals are achieved within specific timeframes.

Donors who provide 100% of funding are represented by two charitable boards in Australia and the USA and directors visit the school throughout each year.

Our policies and procedures

- The School of St Jude is a child-safe organisation implementing a strong Child Protection Policy. Students are fully protected while in the care of the school with its zero-tolerance policy for child abuse.
- Before their visit, all visitors receive a copy of the school's policies covering child protection and personal communication. On arrival, they are reminded of the policies during a short briefing, after which they confirm their agreement in writing to comply with these policies.
- Guests are always accompanied by a staff member while engaging in school activities.
- All staff and students agree to abide by our clearly defined personal communication policies in their dealings with our visitors. Students and staff will never ask guests for contact details, gifts, or personal financial support.
